WORLD NEWS BRIEFS

From the Wires of United Press

UNITED NATIONS — Turkey declared yesterday that King Saud of Saudi Arabia was ready to mediate the Middle East "war crisis" despite Syria's tactics of obstruction.

Britain, speaking before the United Nations General Assembly, also welcomed broadcasts from Jeddah in which the Saudi Arabian government reaffirmed that King Saud's offer stood.

Syria, whose government declared Saturday that the offer—rejected by the Damascus government—had been withdrawn, did not enter the assembly's debate on the Turco-Syrian situation today.

Foresters Select Theme, Cut Trees For Annual Ball

"America's Range Resource" will be the theme for the 45th annual Forester's Ball, to be held Jan. 17-18, according to Ed Bloedel, chief push.

The foresters have cut approximately 1,000 trees for the dance. Plans are to cut 3,000 more.

One of MSU's best known traditional affairs, the Forester's Ball dates back to 1913, when presumably people dressed up to go to the dance, instead of wearing costumes.

Foresters estimate that decorating for the ball will run into approximately 7,000 man hours of labor.

Red Army Chief's Fate Is Unknown

LONDON, (P)—Rumors about the fate of Red Army Marshal Georgi Zhukov flooded Western Europe last night.

They ranged from reports he had been "demoted" by his release from his post as defense minister to a report he had been dropped from the all-powerful Presidium of the Communist Party. This report was carried by the French National Radio, quoting "unconfirmed rumors circulating in Western circles in Moscow."

The most that could be gleaned from Moscow through heavy censorship was the opinion of seasoned diplomatic observers that Zhukov was out as defense chief because he opposed Khrushchev's determination to keep the armed forces under party control.

WASHINGTON, —Gen Lauris Norstad said yesterday in an implied warning to Russia that any nation starting a third world war against the West would be destroyed.

Norstad, NATO commander in Europe, said the 4,500-mile East-West frontier which his forces protect was the "best defended line in the world."

POCATELLO, Idaho, —Federal kidnapping charges that could mean the death penalty were filed yesterday against Willard Arthur Brown, 23-year-old housewife from Galen, Mont. Because he forced her to accompany him from Montana into Idaho, Brown was charged under the "Lindbergh Law" which carries a possible death penalty. His other two abductions were in Idaho.

Brown was arraigned before U.S. Commissioner Don R. Bristline here and charged with kidnap and rape of Mrs. Laura Shafford, 24-year-old housewife from Galen, Mont. Because he forced her to accompany him from Montana into Idaho, Brown was charged under the "Lindbergh Law" which carries a possible death penalty. His other two abductions were in Idaho.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (P)—Russia urged the General Assembly yesterday to take disarmament negotiations out of the hands of the atomic "Big Five" and open the issue to all the United Nations' 82 members.

The United States promptly assailed the proposal as a Soviet effort to avoid effective negotiations on disarmament. Other Western delegations were cool to the new Kremlin plan.

WASHINGTON, (P)—Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy yesterday cancelled an order by his predecessor, Charles E. Wilson, which would have trimmed military research and development funds by 170 million dollars.

McElroy's order apparently was part of his continuing review of the defense policies established by Wilson. He has been pictured as considerably more sympathetic to basic research than Wilson who once remarked he didn't care what made the grass green.

Gary Gatz, Thelma Metcalfe Opening in 'Cyrano' Thursday

By TED HULBERT

Gary Gatz and Thelma Metcalfe will open as leads Thursday in the three-day run of "Cyrano de Bergerac," the Rostand virtuoso play now in production by Montana Masquers. The play opens in the University Theater.

Gatz has the title role in the five-act play, and Miss Metcalfe is Roxane, the leading lady.

GARY GATZA

Gatz, as Cyrano, will make his second appearance on the University Theater stage. Last year, he was in the cast of Thornton Wilder's "The Skin of Our Teeth," and also did work in experimental theater, appearing "Hello Out

Nursery School Invites Visitors

An open house will be held to show the newly completed nursery school and kindergarten quarters this evening from 8 to 10, according to Bruce Brown, professor of home economics.

There will be an opportunity to inspect the department's new preschool education plant and equipment and to meet the members of its child development staff, Brown said. The preschool quarters are located on the ground floor, north wing, of the Women's Center. Home economics and education majors are particularly urged to attend.

The kindergarten and nursery classes were formerly located in the frame buildings behind Main Hall. In the new location there are mural paintings on the walls which were done by Walter Hook of the art department. They are non-objective designs done in primary colors, red, blue, and yellow. These are the colors that small children are most attracted to, Brown said. The color of the murals is carried out in shelves which nearly surround the area set off for the preschool department.

The nursery is adapted for children aged three to five and the kindergarten for children five to six. Head teacher of the kindergarten is Artie Dawes and head teacher of the nursery school is Lorna Paine.

French Assembly Refuses Seat To Former Premier

PARIS, (P)—The French National Assembly yesterday voted against installing Guy Mollet as Premier. The vote left the four-week old political crisis unsolved.

Mollet's chances of forming a new government were virtually killed shortly before the balloting began when the powerful Independent and Peasants party decided to vote against him.

Until the rightist Independents and Peasants announced the decision, the crucial vote had been considered a toss-up. The party commands 97 votes in the 596-seat assembly which is splintered into 13 parties.

There." He is a junior in philosophy, with his home in Missoula.

Edmond Rostand's Cyrano, Gatz said, is a character underlined by irony, who becomes almost tragic, especially during the death scene in the final act. "He is a testimony to integrity—a man who refuses to compromise." By the time the play ends, he has practically nothing, yet through his pride, he has retained a quality of strength and of dignity, Gatz noted.

Throughout the play, Cyrano loves Roxane. But Roxane is in love with Christian (played by Jim Polk) and does not suspect Cyrano's love for her until the final scene.

Cyrano—realizing the futility of circumstances—writes Christian's love letters, even whispers words for him to use in making love to Roxane under her balcony. Fifteen years after Christian's death in battle, Roxane finally learns that it was Cyrano's letters, Cyrano's words that came to her from Christian.

Cast as Roxane, Thelma Metcalfe is a freshman from Lodge Grass majoring in Liberal Arts. During Interscholastic last spring, she won the Roberts Memorial Scholarship for her performance in a one-act play, and also won the best actress award. The play in which she appeared at that time was "Storm."

She also did dramatic work in high school, plus an appearance in Pioneer Playhouse at Billings during the summer of 1956.

VP, Central Board Candidates To Speak at Rally Wednesday

Freshman candidates to Central Board and candidates for the ASMSU vice presidency will speak at a pre-election rally Wednesday in the Lodge, elections chairman Rich Martin announced yesterday.

Frosh Candidates Make Statements

MSU freshmen will cast their votes in a general election Thursday in the Lodge for two freshman delegates to Central Board. Running for positions to the board are John Datsopoulos, Doug Wold, Barbara Lee, and Paul Ulrich.

Tempie Brown and John Bohlinger will also appear on the ballot in a race for the ASMSU vice presidency.

According to Rich Martin, elections committee chairman, the person who gains the highest number of votes will be elected to CB for a two-year period. The candidate with the second highest total will fill a one-year term.

John Datsopoulos, a business law major from Missoula, feels that Central Board and its duties have not been clearly enough defined to the students. "Central Board is still rather new to me and while I really can't say too much I would like to see the functions of this body better explained."

Doug Wold, business law major from Laurel, said, "I think there is some doubt in the minds of the students as to the function of Central Board. From what I know of this body, I think it needs a shot in the arm."

Wold further stated that he thought the honors program rated attention. This program would be very beneficial to the students as well as raise the prestige and standards of MSU. He would also like to see NSA developed more.

"Central Board seems rather distant from the student body," said Barbara Lee, political science major from Missoula. "I would like to see a closer understanding between the students and the governmental body which represents them. I think the problem might be solved by election of class officers and class meetings."

Paul Ulrich, from Butte who is taking a general course, said that he would like to see increased freshman participation in student government. "By increasing the number of freshmen in student government I feel they would be better trained to do the job in their remaining three years here," said Ulrich.

Roxane, Miss Metcalfe, Opening in 'Cyrano' Thursday

Roxane, Miss Metcalfe said, has many different sides to her personality, and she changes in each act. Three different men love her, yet in the final act she realizes it wasn't Christian but Cyrano whom she loved.

Roxane matures during the play, Miss Metcalfe said, by realizing that outward beauty is not so important as she had thought. She learns to love not only for beauty, and gains depth in her character by learning this, the actress concluded.

"Cyrano" is a beautifully written play—anyone should enjoy it," Miss Metcalfe said.

Each of the candidates will be allowed about five minutes to speak, Martin said. This will give them time to define whatever issues are involved in the campaign, and to give their opinions on the role of student government in campus affairs, Martin added.

The rally will be held at 4 p.m. in the Yellowstone Room.

Candidates for vice president are Tempie Brown and John Bohlinger.

Candidates for freshman Central Board seats are Doug Wold, John Datsopoulos, Paul Ulrich and Barbara Lee.

The general elections will be held Thursday in the Grill Room of the Lodge, Martin said. Voting will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Students must present activity cards to vote.

Martin urged all students, and especially freshmen, to attend the rally Wednesday, since this will be the only chance which candidates will have to discuss the election together before the student body.

Questions from the floor will be permitted after the candidate speaks.

News Coverage Of Paradise Dam Topic of SDX Talk

John Forssen, reporter on the Daily Missoulian, and Don Weston of KGVO radio, told of their experiences in covering the Paradise Dam hearing last week, at the first evening dinner of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, Sunday night.

Forssen explained how a reporter should be adequately prepared on the subject he is to cover. Before he could do a good job of reporting on the hearing, he met and interviewed proponents and opponents on Paradise Dam. Numerous handouts from public relations men employed by both sides, helped to give him background on the problem.

Difficulty arose at the hearing Forssen said, when he was unable to acquire advance statements from any of the important speakers or witnesses.

In order to develop an interesting story, Forssen used the statement by former Gov. John Bonner, which showed a split in the state democratic party, as the lead in his morning story.

Dealing with radio, Don Weston said his main problem in covering the hearing was the time factor. KGVO carried part of the hearing direct, and part recorded. There were some 120 witnesses, and most of their statements were repetitious he said. To edit and summarize the main points into a five minute newscast, posed the main problem on the radio end.

Asked if they thought Paradise Dam would be built, both could not give definite answers. If Congress votes to appropriate money to build the dam, it would be seven years before the actual building would begin, Forssen said.

To the Kaimin:

The enthusiasm and spirit displayed by the student body prior to, during, and following the New Mexico football game surpassed anything that we have witnessed on the Montana campus for many years. Continued student body loyalty and spirit will undoubtedly lead toward more success in our athletic endeavors. Religious Council Will Correlate Campus Activities

Forming of a council that will enable all student religious groups on campus to cooperate on activities that are of common concern was announced yesterday by Willard Colston, president of Student Christian Council.

Some tentative projects of the new group would be promotion of the chapel program, freshman discussion groups, religious speakers program and the sponsoring of Freshman Camp and Inter-Church picnic.

Until now there has been no organization here that attempted to correlate religious activities on a campus wide basis Colston said. The new organization will enable this correlation to become a reality.

At present some of the Protestant groups are united in the Student Christian Council. The SCC is a representative organization composed of the president and one other member of each group. The new council, which is yet to be named, will work around the nucleus of the SCC, which will remain intact. All student religious groups will be offered representation similar to that of the present SCC. Delegates of the cooperating living groups will have voting power on those activities in which they wish to participate.

Student religious work on the campus is expected to be strengthened by this new council.

A WORD IN EDGEWISE

By TED HULBERT

At least four freshmen are wondering this week about ways and means to get elected to Central Board seats. Final elections Thursday will eliminate two of the now four candidates, which means there are only two days left to formulate campaign policy.

From a year of political observation, it seems there's only one sure-fire bit of advice: play it smooth. Don't antagonize anyone by speaking your mind. When time comes to make political speeches, keep to the narrow path. In general, something along this line: "I really think Central Board is a wonderful thing, and I'm sure that I would learn much by being your representative to this important group." Of course, the wording needs to be worked over somewhat, but this is nevertheless the substance of most political talks made in the past.

To be honest, though, I'll have to admit there's an alternative. Which is: Take a firm stand in favor of promoting various "worth-whiles." Among these are such things as better student-faculty relations, cooperation with foreign students and efforts to make them feel more at home, and elevation of the academic level of the institution.

There is always a degree of danger in this approach. The novice might, for instance, speak firmly in favor of coordinating our campus activities with those of one or another of the regional or national student groups, without realizing that a growing faction of nonconformists is beginning to question the value of the whole system; that some are beginning to tire of being coordinated and cooperated.

To avoid this danger, a final suggestion: Favor only those things which seem to have unanimous approval, or those which are not currently at issue. One politico last year projected himself as a proponent of building sand boxes for strip house children, for example. After all, who could disagree?

Grizzlies Gain Second Win; Upset New Mexico 21-6

By FRANK CREPEAU

The Montana Grizzlies handed New Mexico their first conference defeat as they gained a decisive 21-6 victory over the Lobos on Dornblaser Field Saturday. For the Grizzlies it was the second time in two weeks that they had upset a heavily favored opponent. New Mexico came to Missoula leading the Skyline Conference but saw their title hopes dashed as the Grizzlies played them to a standstill in the first half and completely dominated the game in the second half.

Head Coach Jerry Williams said after the game. "It was just a team victory; everyone played a good game."

The game was close throughout the first half with the score at halftime 7-6. However, the Lobos had the edge in statistics.

In the second half the Grizzly defense proved too much for the Lobos and the "Tips added two more touchdowns to the delight of a small but enthusiastic crowd.

Lobo Offense Stopped

"We stopped their offense and consequently we controlled the ball more," Williams said. Williams said that he was especially pleased that the Grizzlies stopped all three "offensive formations thrown at them by New Mexico. The Lobos used an unbalanced line, a spread formation and the split T.

New Mexico Coach Dick Clausen said that his team suffered from injuries. "However I can't take anything away from the Montana team because they played a fine game," he said.

Pete Rhinehart, Grizzly left end, dislocated his shoulder in the third quarter and will be out of action for about 10 days.

With Rhinehart out of the lineup the Grizzlies will be short of manpower at left end when they play Idaho Saturday. Lou Pangle is recovering from an ankle injury and may only see limited action against Idaho. However Les Vierra replaced Rhinehart in the lineup Saturday, and, as Coach

Williams said; "Vierra replaced Rhinehart very capably."

Bill Hand, who played an outstanding game against the Lobos, injured his knee and may be out for about a week.

Terry Hurley, right end, was in the hospital yesterday with a respiratory infection.

Tips Score First

Montana scored when the game was only a few minutes old as Howard Johnson took a New Mexico punt on the Montana 38-yard line. Johnson dropped the ball, then picked it up and cut to the sidelines and ran 62 yards for the touchdown. Williamson converted and the Grizzlies were ahead to stay.

New Mexico also scored in the first quarter as they drove 83 yards on 12 plays. In the second quarter a New Mexico threat was averted when Hurley recovered a Lobo fumble on the Montana 18-yard line.

As the first half ended Montana was down to the New Mexico five-yard line with 15 seconds remaining. The Grizzlies tried to stop the clock by calling time out but had already used up their time outs for the period. The half ended before they could run off another play.

Second Half

Montana dominated the second half of play. The Grizzlies gained 140 yards rushing to only 48 for the Lobos. The "Tips also passed for 56 yards while the Lobos gained no yardage passing in the second half.

quarter and Johnson ran six yards around left end for the Grizzlies final score in the fourth quarter.

For the Grizzlies Bob Everson carried the ball 16 times for 75 yards and also played a standout defensive game. Howard Johnson carried 14 times for 82 yards and two touchdowns. Earl Keeley called a smart game and was voted outstanding back of the game.

It is hard to pick a standout in the Montana line. Stan Renning played his usual fine game. Gary Kennedy was mentioned quite a

Grizzly Cubs Beat Orediggers 37-7

The Grizzly Cubs ran up an 18-0 halftime lead and went on to beat the Montana School of Mines 37-7 at Butte Saturday.

The Orediggers, short on experience and personnel, were unable to halt the Cub's passing attack which accounted for 190 yards. The Cubs gained 176 yards on the ground.

Coach Hal Sherbeck said that the Cub's were running the offense a little better but that the squad still had a lot of work to do. "We are still better on defense than offense," he said.

Even though the Cubs scored twice on passes, Sherbeck said that they needed more work on passing. "We will have to be twice as good as we were Saturday to beat Columbia Basin Junior College this weekend," Sherbeck said.

lot by his teammates as having played an outstanding game. O'Brien played a fine game and made a nice interception. Karl Benjamin has been playing very well lately and has perhaps not been getting the credit he deserves for his fine work.

After the game the players all signed the game ball and it was presented to Roy Bray who is undergoing surgery on his shoulder.

Eight Girls Pledge Four Sororities

Eight women were pledged by four sororities Saturday, according to Maureen Froiland, Panhellenic president.

Following are the new pledges: Bettie Rothweiler, Delta Gamma; Nancy Thomas, Billie Bevin, Phylis Enderwald, Marcella Bardusk, Delta Delta Delta; Colleen Mack, Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Dawn DeGrey and Bonnie Kem, Sigma Kappa.

Delta Delta Delta and Sigma Kappa held open spot rush because they did not fill their quotas during regular rush. They were able to rush any girls who had the necessary grade average. The other houses could rush only those girls who became ill during rush week and had to drop out before pledging.

Probable Bowl Game Choices Begin to Emerge

After last weekend's football activity the post season bowl opponents are beginning to emerge. It looks like Oregon and Ohio State in the Rose Bowl. Oregon picked up its fourth consecutive win by beating California 24-6. Ohio State stopped Wisconsin 16-13 and looks like the Big Ten choice.

It will probably be undefeated Oklahoma vs. Duke in the Orange Bowl. Duke was tied last week by North Carolina State but is still ranked seventh in the nation. Oklahoma will probably have an easy time with Kansas State this weekend.

The Cotton Bowl game could see Texas A&M playing Mississippi. Texas A&M has a 6-0 record but meets the tough Arkansas Razorbacks this week. Arkansas knocked Mississippi from the perfect record list Saturday 12-6.

The opponents for the Sugar Bowl are still very much in doubt.
